Division of Nursing and Allied Health

The Division of Nursing and Allied Health at Roxbury Community College was established in 1987. The goal of the program is to serve the community with quality education for a rewarding career in the nursing profession. The course of study at Roxbury Community College leads to an Associate in Science Degree. Graduates are eligible to take the NCLEX-RN examination to become registered nurses.

The College is committed to diversifying Boston's nursing work force by providing a well-rounded clinical and academic program. Roxbury Community College has clinical affiliations with some of the top health care facilities in the United States, including Boston Medical Center, Brigham & Women's Hospital, Massachusetts General Hospital and New England Baptist Hospital. Our nursing graduates are employed in all areas of nursing and many continue their formal education in baccalaureate institutions.
